Market Commentary

Generali Equity V recorded performance of -6.28% in June 2022. The JCI recorded a performance of -3.32% mom in June 2022, dropping from the 7100 level to around 6900. The performance this month could be attributed to the negative global sentiment. To combat the higher-than-expected US inflation (US May CPI 8.6% Real vs 8.3% Expected) the FED hiked its rates by 75 bps in June. The surging inflation and the recession fears in developed countries' economies have increased the global market uncertainty and made risky assets like stocks less attractive. Therefore, many foreign investors sold off their Indonesian stocks, as reflected by the total net sell-off of about Rp 8.13 Tn from the stock market in June. Thus, the JCI fell, as shown in several falling sector indexes (e.g., Finance -6.61%, Industrials -7.04%, Raw Goods -12.89%), and the stock market movement could be represented by the following shares (e.g., BBRI -3.71%, BBCA -3.65%, TLKM -3.85%, ASII -3.84%, MDKA -10.14%, BMRI -2.76%, TPIA -4.76%, BBNI -3.68%, INCO -11.72%, ANTM -8.40%).

Market Commentary

Generali Fixed Income V recorded performance of -1.69% in June 2022. In June, the 5-year government bond yield increased from 6.161% to 6.206%, and the 10-year yield from 7.047% to 7.249%. Although the FED hiked its rates by 75 bps in June to combat rising US inflation, BI still maintained its rates at 3.5% to encourage economic recovery. As such, the exchange rate had weakened significantly to around USD/IDR 14,928.90. Meanwhile, the government still commits to continue providing energy subsidies to mitigate the surging inflation to a more manageable level. Nevertheless, the surging inflation and rising interest rates in developed economies had dulled the appeal of the bond market. Thus, this negative sentiment had affected Indonesia as well.

Market Commentary

Generali Money Market V recorded performance of +0.08% in June 2022. The BI Board of Governors Meeting agreed on 22nd and 23rd June 2022 to hold the BI 7-Day Reverse Repo Rate (BI7DRR) at 3.50%, while also maintaining the Deposit Facility (DF) rates at 2.75% and Lending Facility (LF) rates at 4.25%. The decision is consistent with the need to manage inflation and maintain exchange rate stability, while continuing to foster economic growth amid escalating external pressures stemming from the emerging risk of stagflation in several countries. Moving forward, global economic uncertainty is expected to remain elevated given the looming risk of an economic downturn and persistently high global inflation, including the expansion of inward-looking policies, particularly affecting food, in a number of countries.
