Market Commentary

Generali Fixed Income Short Duration recorded performance of +0.13% in February 2024. In February 2024, the 5-year government bond yield dropped slightly from 6.584% to 6.567% while the 10-year yield rose slightly from 6.687% to 6.705%. The bond yields were resilient and stable this month, supported by the post-election positive sentiment and the strengthening rupiah. The results of the election quick count indicated a continuation of the current administration policies, reducing the market uncertainty and instilling confidence in investors. The FED maintained its rate at the target range of 5.25%-5.50% in February, and would likely maintain higher for longer to curb inflation and address fluctuating employment data. Nevertheless, the IDR remained stable against the strong USD (IDR/USD 15,711 in Feb 2024 vs 15,775 in Jan 2024), and the BI maintained its rates at 6.00% to preserve stability, provide liquidity, and maintain low inflation.
