Market Commentary

DPLK Generali Money Market Bravo recorded a performance of 0.39% in December 2025. In December 2025, Indonesia's money market remained liquid and accommodative, supported by stable domestic macroeconomic conditions and an ongoing accommodative monetary stance. Bank Indonesia maintained the BI-Rate at 4.75%, keeping short-term interest rates low and stable. System liquidity stayed ample, underpinned by controlled inflation, continued foreign capital inflows, and additional liquidity from maturing government bonds. On the external front, a more stable global monetary policy environment following the end of the Federal Reserve's quantitative tightening further supported global funding conditions. These combined factors helped keep interbank rates low, narrowed spreads, and maintained favorable short-term funding conditions toward the end of 2025.
