Market Commentary

Generali Money Market Syariah recorded a performance of 0.15% in February 2026. The Indonesian money market maintained its resilience throughout February 2026, supported by consistently accommodative liquidity conditions. Bank Indonesia's decision to hold the BI-Rate at 4.75% continues to provide a solid anchor for short-term interest rates and market stability. Systemic liquidity remains ample, bolstered by sustained foreign capital inflows and a stabilizing global monetary landscape following the conclusion of the Fed's tightening cycle. With domestic inflation well-contained and interbank spreads remaining narrow. These factors collectively reinforce a benign backdrop for money market performance as we progress through the first quarter of 2026.
