Market Commentary

DPLK Generali Fixed Income Bravo recorded a performance of 1.89% in August 2026. Indonesia's bond market extended its recovery in August 2026, with sentiment turning notably more constructive than July. Bank Indonesia held the BI-Rate steady at 5.75% for a third straight month, giving policymakers room to assess the cumulative 100bps of hikes delivered since May. The 10-year SBN yield eased sharply, falling roughly 33 basis points from early-August levels near 7.38% to around 7.04–7.05% by mid-to-late month, helped by softer US Treasury yields (~4.64%), the nomination of Destry Damayanti as BI Governor, and a strengthening rupiah. Foreign buying accelerated meaningfully, with net SBN inflows reaching around US$931.7 million (roughly Rp10.7 trillion) for the month, the largest monthly inflow since 2019, pushing foreign SBN holdings to Rp909.04 trillion (12.97% of the total) by August 20. A mid-month government bond auction drew foreign bids of Rp17.23 trillion, more than double the year's average. Overall, the market shifted from cautious stabilization to firmer conviction, though officials continue watching Fed policy signals and rupiah stability closely.
